Accessorize at a Recession-Friendly Value

LOS ANGELES, CA (July 1, 2009) – Longevity and favorable price points remain in high demand in this recession-state economy. David Tishbi Handcrafted Jewelry delivers with such standards and is becoming a popular choice among retailers and consumers. One item in particular is the sterling silver Falling Leaf ring priced at suggested retail $119.

Chosen for its classic use of material, organic design and friendly price, it has been featured in JCK magazine (the industry authority since 1869) on the Exclusive Style 2009 issue. Fine Jewelry News, dedicated to advising readers on fine jewelry choice, will also be featuring this same ring on its trends report.

Luckily for consumers looking to purchase a set, the Falling Leaf also comes in as a necklace and a pair of earrings. Both are available even at a friendlier price of $89 each.

What's next for David Tishbi Inc.? Rock 'n' Roll icon, Iggy Pop, a fan of their men's silver and leather bracelet, was photographed for the July Music and Style edition of Maxim Magazine. Gulf & Main will also be featuring two of David Tishbi's exotic rings on their next issue.

These items and many exciting pieces can be found at www.davidtishbi.com and accompanied with a lifetime guarantee. David Tishbi Handcrafted Jewelry specializes in "two-tone" jewelry and is carried in retail establishments worldwide.
